The University
HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE NAMED ASSOCIAtion are situated in San Francisco and are slightly and most desirably located, adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected. The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street; lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone's throw of ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

The tract will require little or no grading, there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be safe to build without any change of grade. It commands a

Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness. So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon.

The Rev. E. Thomas, D. D.,

Is President of the Association; Lester L. Robinson formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas D Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary.

Four lots, 25x120 feet each, constitute a share, costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $20 has been made.

Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J. L. PARRISH & CO.

It is an easy and a cheap way for young men to procure property which will in a few years make them independent.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1—P. M. Marley commenced suit in the 12th District Court to-day, against the Barker Copper Mining Company and A. Harpending, to recover a portion of the profits of said mine and his share of $175 000. For which it is said, plaintiff claiming to own fifty-six one of the company's stock. He charges he has been fraudulently dealt with.

Attachment suits were commenced yesterday afternoon against Francisco Gagliardi as follows: Leonard Preiss $208, J. L. Litchfield & Kelly, $388, 7.15. Arms & Latham $51, 2.8. Badger & Lindenberger, $120, 806; Bloom & Co $264 192. Philip Meagher, $97 2. Heidt, Bros & Co $146. Sullivan & Coleman, $244, 970.

The jury in the case of the Pictures returned a verdict finding as to John Martin, J Bloomer, George Riley, John Welch and Thomas Finnerty, and acquitted Philip McGovern.

The Independent Committee, composed of the People's Nominating Committee for the years 1864 and 1865 met last evening and nominated candidates to the Union County Convention, and adopted an address.

The dead body of a red road man was found floating in the bay at the foot of Vallejo street this morning. It has been identified as that of a sailor who had been missing from his boarding house on Broadway street since Saturday last. The Coroner has been unable to learn what his name is.

Judge Dwinelle to-day granted Maria Heck a divorce from her husband, Jacob Heck.

Livingston A. Eldridge has commenced a suit against the Central American Transit Company to recover $6,887 for loss of baggage by the wrecking of the Golden Rule on Remondon Reef.

The case of T B Shannon and other Custom House officers, charged with being part owners and agents of the bark Jeanette, was decided to-day by United States Commissioner Wheeler. He holds substantially that the defendants are not guilty of violating the law, and that the law does not contemplate prohibiting Custom House officers from owning vessels not engaged in a foreign trade.

A special session of the Union County Committee was held in the Twelfth District Court room for the purpose of changing the test of voters at primary elections, and of fixing the hours for holding the same and arranging such further details as might be necessary to secure a full expression of Union party voters, and furnish them convenient polling places. It is confidently affirmed by those who were in the secret, or presumed to be so, that the boys had so arranged matters that the objects of the meeting would not be carried out, but that a division should be made from politics for this night only, and the session to conclude by a grand display of the noble art of self defence.

The meeting was brought to order at a quarter past past seven o'clock by the President, Hon Frank M Pixley. The roll was called by the Secretary and the minutes approved.

The President, Mr Pixley, then rose and stated the object for which the meeting had been called. He had convened them to take action on a proposition to defeat the test at the primaries, so as to insure the voting of none but Union men; and to lengthen the hours of voting. He had received a communication from the so-called People's Nominating Committee requesting the County Committee to reconsider the action in regard to "test," and recede therefrom altogether. He believed that the people were to require those attributions, for it had come to them, endorsed by the names of upwards of four thousand voters, and backed by an almost united press.

The President had no sooner concluded his remarks than J P Dunn sprung to his feet, and after a few remarks made the following startling assertion: "I believe that it is always customary in bodies of this kind, to show respect to the memory of distinguished men, the intelligence of whose recent decease has reached them, by adjourning, and in accordance with this custom, I move that the Union Committee do adjourn, in respect to the memory of a distinguished candidate for the Governorship of this State, who if not actually dead in the body is politically deceased—I allude to our worthy Chairman, who recently died of too much 'card.'"

Mr Reynolds rose indignantly and exclaimed: "This motion is disorderly and out of place, my friends." The Chairman, taken by surprise by this extraordinary proposition and equally extraordinary and unparliamentary motion and evidently horrified at the affront, put the question, remarking when doing so, that during the time he had presided over the sittings of the Committee, he had endeavored, as every one knew, to act with fairness. He could not permit the frivolity and insolence of the person from the second Ward to pass unnoticed. The Chairman then put the question. After a few remarks the ayes and noes were demanded and taken, with the following result: Ayes 14, noes 10. In accordance with the vote, the chairman declared the meeting adjourned.

The session lasted thirty five minutes. The personal and offensive character of Dunn's remarks (whole) made the motion to adjourn), aroused a deep feeling of excitement among the members. As soon as the meeting was declared adjourned, little knots of two or three formed in the room, discussing the affair. The chairman, on descending from his seat, was met by Dunn. Pixley told him not to speak to Dunn; that his conduct was cowardly and infamous, that he (Pixley) could not afford them, in a contest wherein he was candidate, to engage in a brawl, but that he would arrive when the time for the restoring of his present position, he would properly resent the insult offer pil him. Many persons in the lobby jumped over the railing and got within the bar, joining the little knots of their friends and delegates from their wards.

F W Dewey got into an altercation with John Banning. Several members had joined in loud and angry talk. T McCarthy seized Banning, who at the moment was laying hold of a chair, and hurried him back to the left of the Judge's rostrum, as he said to protect him. Here they were followed by several parties, members and outsiders, and many words were made at one, but none of them, however, took effect. At this moment the president was safe for a free fight, several collisions having occurred. Calls were made for Pixley to stop it. Pixley said he could not stop it. The Chairman was once pressed pretty closely, and in flourishing his cane hit M. G Conroy on the side of the head. Conroy, knowing it it was an accident, took no offence therefrom, and continued energetically in his efforts to repress further belligerent actions.

To give an exact account of what was said and done in all parts of the room, in two and different parties were quarrelling and jostling each other at the same moment, would be impossible, and it is sufficient to know that the whole affair was uncalled for and disgraceful. There were many members of the Committee who took no part in these proceedings, and some of the gentlemen gave information at the police depot. Half a dozen policemen came up and quelled further belligerent demonstrations. Dunn's conduct is condemned on all sides.

The People's party will gain a great many votes by the disgraceful action of some of the members of the Union County Committee last night.

San Francisco, June 2.—No Eastern news to-day. Lincoln out of order east of Salt Lake.

No local news of moment.

The Light Horse demonstration, to take place to-morrow, will undoubtedly be a grand affair, preparations being going on for some time past to show how extended and determined is the resolution of our Kingmen to obtain what they regard as their just rights.

At four o'clock yesterday afternoon there were entered on the great register of San Francisco and county the names of 30,811

The Daily Oregonian.

The Primary Election.

We publish to-day the call of the Republican-Union City Committee for a primary election to be held on Wednesday next, to put in nomination a ticket to be supported at the regular city election which will take place on the third Monday of the present month. In making this call and prescribing the method in which the primary election is to be conducted, the Committee have taken the course which seemed best calculated to insure a fair expression of the will of the party. Ample time is given for every voter to appear and indicate his choice for candidates, and the strict regulations which are prescribed for the management of the election afford full security that everthing will be done decently and in order. A primary conducted on such principles will be characterized by perfect fairness, and it is believed that no Union man will have reason to complain of the method adopted, or of his want of opportunity to participate, on equal terms with others of his party in making the nominations.

Oregon's Senators.

The arrival of Senators Williams and Corbett on the morning of Sunday, prevented the public demonstration which otherwise would have been spontaneously made by our citizens in honor of their return; yet they were warmly greeted in Portland, as they will be by the people of the whole State. The Union party has given Oregon two Senators who have raised the State to an enviable distinction in the eminent body of which they are members. It is almost three years since Senator Williams left his State for the National Capital, and something over two years since he took his seat in the Senate of the United States It is not too much to say that in this space of time he has made for himself a national reputation. He is one of the strong men of the body to which his State has sent him, and short as his term of service has been, there are few in whom the country places a firmer reliance, and certainly none who are more deserving of the country's confidence His fidelity has been tried and approved, and he pledges he gave on the occasion of his last visit to, to stand by the Union party, to assist it in its work, and to maintain unflinchingly the principles upheld by the loyal sentiment of the country, have been fully redeemed. The Union party of his State fully endorse his public acts, and warmly welcome him, as a faithful public servant, to his home. It is sufficient to say of Senator Williams that he has done what he was sent to do, and the general verdict of loyal men here and throughout the nation is that he has performed his duty ably and well. Senator Corbett has taken a high place in the esteem of the Senate and of the public, and he people of his State have every confidence in his faithfulness and capacity, and in his fidelity to the principles which have carried the country through a crisis as tremendous as any which history records During the very brief period which has elapsed since he took his seat, he has had little opportunity to participate in the business and deliberations of the Senate, but limited as have been his opportunities, his acts already show that the people of Oregon have in him a faithful and painstaking Senator. For the first time since the Union party was formed by the voluntary and instinctive association of patriotic men in 1861, this State now has two Senators who are in full sympathy with that party's purposes and objects, and who will use their power and influence to uphold the cause and secure the fruits of the victory for which the loyal millions of the nation poured out their wealth of gold and their treasures of blood.

"Ancient Pistol" of the Herald appears to have been considerably rolled up by the statement of facts made in our paper of Friday morning relative to the United States District Attorney's office. It is not pleasant to see the exculpating labors of days and weeks swept away and shown to be false and unfounded by a statement of facts which cannot be denied. But the Herald's "ancient" manifests quite too much bad temper for one of his saintly hypocritical character. By the way, how is it about Humason? The refusal of this Yankee born Thersites to censure in Humason's action a thing more indefensible than that which he reprobates in the action of another, is about the most shameless piece of dishonesty and hypocrisy we have lately seen. But that paper is eminently capable of such things.

Muhlbach's Historical Novels.—A series of romances by the above named author, translated into English by competent hands, have been issued from the press of D. Appleton & Co. The title of the volumes before us are, I, Frederick the Great and his Court, II, Berlin and Sans-Souci; III, Joseph the Second and his Court. These books have taken high rank among recent literary performances. Their merits are conceded by literary critics, and by the public press generally, both in Europe and America. For sale by J. L. Parrish & Co., Portland.

The Money Order System.—The following is a Washington dispatch of May 23d:

The postal money order system has been extended to the following Pacific coast offices! Auburn, Benicia, Camptonville, Chico, Dutch Flat, Columbia, Colusa, Downieville, Folsom, Forest Hill, Georgetown, Gibsonville, Gilroy, Grass Valley, Healdsburg, Jonesville, Jackson, Laporte, Mariposa, Markleeville, Martines, Monterey, Mokelumne Hill, Virginia City, Oakland, Oroville, Petaluma, Placerville, Red Bluff, San Rafael, Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa, Shasta City, Vacaville, Vallejo, Visalia, Watsonville, Wilmington, and Yreka, in the State of California; Boise City, Idaho City, Ruby City, and Lewiston, in Idaho; Helena and Virginia City in Montana, Albany, Canyon City, Corvallis, Dallas, Eugene City, Jacksonville, Lafayette, La Grande, Oregon City, Roseburg, Salem, Dalles and Umatilla, in Oregon; Olympia, Steilacoom, Vancouver and Walla Walla, in Washington Territory.

Governor of Washington Territory.—A letter from Washington to the Idaho Statesman contains the following paragraph

General Marshal F Moore, of Ohio, is appointed and confirmed Governor of Washington Territory. The General is a Republican, and from personal acquaintance I can vouch for his being a gentleman. The Federal officers in Idaho remain. All the nominations made to supercede them were either rejected or not acted upon by the Senate.

A Brave Man.—Robert Bailey, formerly a resident of Idaho City, was killed by the Indians lately, while carrying the mail between Beaver Head and Fort Laramie He killed fifteen of the Indians before he fell. His partner, who alone was with him, was mortally wounded, but lived long enough to reach the station.

Risley.—A slip of paper has been found in Boise City, written by the man who killed the late H. B. Lane and then himself, in an insane fit a short time ago in that city, which tells his name and former residence. It reads "Illinois is my home. My name is G. L. Risley. Jacksonville papers please copy."

An Enigma.—Doctor Whowell of England left behind him the following enigma, which has long baffled English wits

A headless man had a letter to write,
He who read it had lost his sight;
The dumb repeated it word for word,
The deaf was the man who listened and heard!"

An innocent radical who followed Andrew Johnson "round the circle" gives this solution:

The man with no head must be Andy J,
His vote is meant by the "letter to write,"
And William H Seward, clear as day,
Is the wretche! old reader who lost sight

The dumb who repeated it word for word
Are, beyond all question, the Johnson clique;
While deaf as if they had never heard,
Is a patriot nation when copperheads speak

VAST CONTRAST.—What a great difference there must be between the climate of Russian America and the climate we live in; while the former is bitterly cold, the latter is extremely warm, and while other houses in this city sell goods at extreme high prices, KOHN & FISHEL, No 91 Front street, have come down to the other extreme by selling Clothing and Gents' Furnishing Goods, etc, at very low prices of which every person is already convinced, and those who ain't, can be convinced by calling on them and be convinced

SAN FRANCISCO ASSAYING AND REFINING WORKS.

No. 416 Montgomery St. 1st,

(Successors to Kellogg, Hewston & Company.)

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

Directors:

JOHN PARROTT, CHAS. R. McLANE,
WM. C. RALSTON, A. HAYWARD,
LOUIS A. CARNETT.

LOUIS A. CARNETT.....President and Manager.
JOHN HEWSTON, Jr.....Chemist and Superintendent.

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion.

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS

One-eighth of one per cent. (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty-four hours

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS.

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,000, and one-eighth of one per cent, for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS.

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 300 4/10@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce
On bullion from 600 4/10@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 750 4/10@940 4/10 parts gold, 8 cents per ounce.
Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD.

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint.

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT.

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce
For refining bullion from 300 4/10@600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce
For refining bullion from 600 4/10@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce
For refining bullion from 750 4/10@930 parts gold, 11 cents per ounce
For refining bullion from 930 4/10@940 4/10 parts gold, 14 cents per ounce
The charge for coinage is half of one per cent, and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same.

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage, with the proceeds of separated gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost 1/2 of one per cent—they turn which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage

$50 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents
$45 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents
$35 par to equal San Francisco A & R. Works return, at refining charge of 9 cents.

SITKA.—A correspondent of the Alta California who has evidently been at Sitka, furnished the following bit of information about our newly acquired northern country: Taking the month of the Stickeen as the initial point, we find, first, on the mainland (spare the orthography with three new companies publish their grammars), the Tongass tribe, a little civilized, and the Stickeen, Klugoons, Chilkehsnas, Henegas, and Kahlee tribes, all less civilized than the Tongass. The last tribe lately killed Captain Eddy, Collector of Customs. Beyond these are the Sundums, Tarkos and Hawks tribes, all very malicious and set savage. On Lion's Canal are the Chilcats, the very worst. On Cape Cross are the Hoonahs and the Hedenbost, both very savage. Then you have the Pearl Stone Sitkas, so ugly set. If you trade you must take blankets and compete with the Hudson Bay Company, once the proprietors of the country, who obtain their goods twenty-five per cent. cheaper than you can under the United States revenue laws. The smuggling fraternity may take whisky. (Just here my friend, the Captain, says: "Why, Bryan, you are sending up a lot of fellows to get them killed, sure!") To this I reply: "The very bane of the coast is rum, that, on account of lastly in pretending to talk trade, the Indians have been incited to deeds of cruelty; consequently I was correct in predicting a hard service for the navy. In return, you receive a very few sea otter, mink, martin, bear and beaver skins, dried salmon, hemp fish, poor oil, and dried berries. There are no sables. They come from Kamchatka. There have been, for several years past, pa ties prospecting the Stickeen and its rivers, meeting with but little success. The gold fields evidently lie in the interior. There are few forties—if so, not at all calculated to resist modern artillery, at Sitka, and the guns are few in number and old-fashioned. You can grow a few potatoes, probably some barley, near the mouth of the Stickeen. I doubt the profit of long-gaffed in attempting it further up the coast. The prominent peculiar or posts for trade, which pay a profit, are in the hands of the Russian American Fur Company. Half-breeds (as a general rule) are their factors, and old traders. They have reason to find "greasiness thrust upon them." Did it ever enter the minds of the proposed "tourists" that now, as American citizens, they have the pre-emption plans in their own hands?

A prominent merchant of Boston, who spent three years in Europe and America, thus writes to a local paper:

That portion of the above-named territory comprising the strip of territory from Mount St. Elias, south, to latitude 54 degrees 40 minutes north, enjoys a mild and agreeable climate, the thermometer ranging from 25 to 35 degrees above zero, at the extreme of winter and summer. But little snow falls, rains are almost constant throughout the year. The climate, though humid, is a very healthy one. The tribes of Indians inhabiting the country are numerous—they are intelligent and warlike. The country is mountainous and cut up with extensive sounds and straits, and possesses many fine harbors, land locks, cypress, birch and beach. In mineral wealth it is no doubt very valuable. The writer has seen, in the possession of the natives, near Cape Addington, great quantities of virgin copper—handles of daggers, cooking utensils, and personal ornaments were made of it. In addition to inquiries, the natives reported extensive deposits of pure copper a short distance in the interior. Iron ore and bituminous and anthracite coal are also to be found in abundance. The waters swarm with fish—particularly salmon—and a small fish resembling in appearance the smelt—but is of a far richer oily quality. In the spring of the year the natives resort to the rivers to catch these fish for winter supply of food. Packed in canoes—test birch or red cedar boxes, they are transported all over, and form also an article of barter for furs, etc. Game is abundant—geese, ducks, deer, bear, etc. In the palmy days of the Boston fur trade of the "North West Coast," the region in question produced the largest portion of the furs collected; as many as 10,000 sea otter skins have been purchased in a month's time. One Boston vessel in particular, with no more cargo than what was confined in the trade room, (a double-sized stateroom,) was so successful in collecting furs in this part of the coast, taking them to China and investing proceeds of sale in silks, teas and nankeens, and again disposing of them in Boston, that the net profits of the voyage were over $200,000.

A SORRY LOOK.—We would be very much obliged if some of our agricultural friends will inform us why it is we send to market nothing but articles of the best quality yet nowhere in the United States do farmers receive so low prices for their produce as in Oregon. There is a screw loose somewhere, and if the land owners and producers will join with us in the investigation we pledge to hunt it up, and if possible to tighten it.—Exch.

That screw has been loose for the last twenty years, has been pointed out 5,000 times by newspapers and their correspondents, and 5,000 times have the people been advised to tighten it. Some of them, thanks to hard and costly experience, have begun to learn how to tighten it and are engaged in giving it a turn. The "screw loose" exists simply of the fact that Oregon producers change hands and their produce in a hasty, slouchy style which went up to condemn it without examination. What reasonable person would expect to get the first price for a roll of wool, even though it might be an A No. 1 article—done up in a dirty, greasy, ragged old stocking-leg? We don't mean to say that our people ever put up butter, literally, in "old socks;" but everybody knows that the days of "firkin" it, in the old times, was a not much more than done up in shapeless messes, wrapped with old scraps of rags, printed with dirty thumbs and forefingers, thrust into kegs, tubs, buckets, boxes, etc., etc. The best butter from the best dairy of the best butter district in the world would, in that guise, few persons to run after it with a view to buying. Everything else was fixed up in a like style. First rate wheat, with lots of oats and cockle in it, bagged in little bags and big bags, bags patched, bags ragged and stuffed with rags, straw or weeds—that's the way wheat went to market. This is subject to illustrate how that screw got loose. It contained loose, notwithstanding a few tried to do the right thing, because the many would not try. Whenever our merchants and traders learn to send nothing to market but good articles, put up in neat, clean, inviting and uniform packages, they will find no trouble in selling them for as much as other people get. Now, friend Unionist, will you please give that screw a turn?

SAN FRANCISCO ARTISTS COMING.—The San Francisco News, of the 24th ult., says:

A party of young artists took the Petaluma boat yesterday morning, on their way for a tour through the most rugged country to Yreka, and thence to Portland.

The route indicated affords a great variety of wild mountain views, calm sunny slopes, time honored and romantic valleys; enough to arouse artistic zeal and inspire the utmost pencils. The young men comprising the party are H. O. Young, H. R. Holdridge and Mr. Briggs, a photographer. The leaving Petaluma they will be joined by Mr. Wall, an experienced traveler and hunter. The party is well supplied with materials for making sketches, and their object is to make numerous careful sketches from nature—the artists' best guide and instructor. The summer's open air studies will give them material in the studio next fall and winter, when they will exhibit the results of their sketches. The young painters named are residents of San Francisco, and pupils of Hill and Keith. They have devoted themselves to art, and have adopted the right course to improve in its practice. Taking their color boxes and blankets, with a good heart and hearty appetites, and boldly penetrating the wilds of our mountain ranges, they will acquire freshness and vigor of style, and be enabled to break from the trammels of conventionalism.

CITY ITEMS.—We clip the subjoined items from the Enterprise of the 1st: The annual meeting of the Congregational Association of Oregon, will be held in this city on the 20th..... We regret that Rev. I. D. Driver has left us. Finally upon leaving Oregon City. He will remove, with his family and household effects, to Salem, leaving this city on Tuesday next.....Mr. Wallace last week sheared on the farm of Mr. Thomas Rowley in this county, two full-blooded Merino bucks, one of which, a year old, sheared fifteen pounds of good clean fine wool, the other, two years old, sheared 18½ lbs. The former weighed 185 lbs., and the latter 95 lbs. after shearing. Let those who can beat this. Clackamas county now boasts of as fine flocks as any county in the State, among the most of whom we may mention Messrs. Rowley, Porter, and Elliott, who have sheep that cannot be beat.

NEARLY DROWNED.—Mr. Frank Fitzgerald of the Dalles, who has been missing from that place since last Monday, has been heard from. A dispatch to this city yesterday from Hood River, says that he passed through that place on Saturday, bound south. It seems he hired a horse on Monday, previously to look for his own, started off south and went as far as Tygh valley, where he procured an Indian to guide him across the mountains. Since leaving Tygh valley he had not been heard of till the telegram was received yesterday from Salem. Telegrams have been sent to stop him, as there are some reasons for fearing that there is something wrong in his mysterious flight.

THE STATE FAIR.—The Board of Managers of the State Agricultural Society had a meeting at Salem last week and resolved upon changing the time of holding the fair to the 7th day of October, and to continue it six days. The claim of Clackamas county, for $100, was referred to a committee of three, from whom a majority and a minority were received; but the Board laid the whole matter over to a future meeting, without decisive action.

TRADE POWDERS.—Half the yeast powders put in the market are humbugs invented and advertised for the purpose merely of making a raise without regard to the real qualities of the bread, but Donnelly's California Yeast Powders are the genuine, pure article, warranted to make light, sweet and nutritious bread. Those who have used them once, will never use any other brand, if Donnelly's can be obtained.

THE "MONTANA" FOR SITKA.—The Bulletin of the 27th says: The California, Oregon and Mexico Steamship Company will despatch the propeller Montana for Sitka on Monday, June 10th, calling at Victoria. It is quite likely that a Government officer will accompany this vessel, and upon arrival at her destination, formally take possession of our newly acquired territory in the name of the United States of America.

GOOD NEWS.—A letter from Mr. Phillip Wasserman, a member of the house of Wasserman & Co., announces that he would leave New York for Portland by the 1st of May 21st. He is, therefore, expected to arrive in about two weeks. Mr. Wasserman has been absent some a year, visiting the Eastern States and Europe. His many friends here will welcome his return home.

—The Pixley Sisters very generously gave a benefit at Odd Fellows' Hall, Saturday evening to John Athey, the unfortunate young man who fell on Wednesday and broke his leg. Several influential persons were exerting themselves on Saturday afternoon, to secure a large audience.

CAPES.—Mr. John Winberg, late of New York, has established himself permanently in this city and is taking many fine pictures. Parties wishing photographs, should call at the New York gallery and examine his fine advertisement in another column.

—We have a large lot of fresh Oranges has just been received per Orifiamme by Paul Sposito, 92 Fr. st. Try them.

FROM THE WARM SPRINGS.—Superintendent Huntington arrived here Saturday evening, having just come from the Warm Springs Agency. He reports the late Indian scare as having occurred during the temporary absence of Capt. Smith, and that upon investigating the matter there appears to have been no real cause for it. There are not, at present, any Snake sign in the neighborhood of the reserve.

THE LIVE YANKEE.—The bark Live Yankee, one of the six vessels composing the packet line between Portland and San Francisco, is now out eight days from the latter port, bound to this city. Theogency at San Francisco of the line, has been transferred to P. C. Dart.

STOCK SENT UP THE COLUMBIA.—The Dalles Mountaineer states the numbers of stock arriving from Portland, during the week ending last Friday, as follows: Cattle, 607; horses, 90; hogs, 50; sheep, 1,857.

WILLAMETTE ITEMS.—The Senator, on Saturday, brought down from Oregon City, 3,627 qr sks flour, 5 bales woolen goods, 30 cases lard, 123 sks feed, 3 boxes eggs, 5 boxes butter, 100 sks oats.

TWO STEAMERS TO-DAY.—In consequence of an accumulation of freight in the warehouse at Oregon City, the Alert and Senator will both come down to-day with heavy loads.

RECORDER'S COURT.—On Saturday Reuben Simpson was held to answer in the Circuit Court, to a charge of permitting a gambling device to be set up in his saloon.

FREIGHT FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—We were not furnished a list of the consignees per steamer Orifiamme, but we learn that she brought about 550 tons freight.

COUNTY CHARGE.—John Whalen, a demented sort of man, was before Judge Marquam on Saturday and by the latter, ordered placed in the county hospital.

SPECIAL MEETING.—A special meeting of the Pioneer Base Ball Club, will be held this evening at Buchtel's Gallery. A full attendance is requested.

DO YOU EXPECT IMMORTALITY?—Angespielt in 40; so just control your ideas that BARMAN BROS., the Clothing and Neck-Tie leaders, will not be undersold On corner Front and Morrison streets, (formerly City of Paris Store,) Portland.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—From and after this day the well-known FRENCH LAFAYETTE RESTAURANT will serve a first-class table at the reduced price of Seven Dollars per week.

"FAMILY DYE COLORS."—The most useful and welcome articles to be found in almost every household in the land, are the FAMILY DYE COLORS of Howe & Stevens. They can always be relied upon, are easily used, and cost but a trifle. Sold by Smith & Davis.

Russia Lodge, No. 15, I. O. O. F.—A special meeting will be held this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock. Important business will be transacted.

DENTIST.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE removed to the South-west corner of FRONT and YAMHILL Streets, opposite E. J. Northrup's Hardware store.

Something New in Dental Surgery.

Extracting teeth by Dr. Richardson's apparatus, with Ether or Shigleine Spray, is found in its application, the best and most astonishing parts only becoming insensible to pain. Those suffering from bad teeth can now have them removed free from pain and without the effects of inhaling chloroform, ether or nitrous oxide (laughing gas).

N. B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last 6 years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First-Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the Office.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER, after a thorough trial, by innumerable living witnesses, has proved itself THE MEDICINE OF THE AGE. Although there have been many medicinal preparations brought before the public since the first introduction of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and large amounts expended in their introduction, the Pain Killer has continued to steadily advance in the estimation of the world as the best Family Medicine ever introduced. It is an internal and external remedy. One positive proof of its efficacy is, that the sales have constantly increased, and wholly upon its own merits. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cold, Cough, Bowel Complaints, Cholera, Dysentary, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores, Sprains, Cuts, Sting of Insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it such a host of testimony, in an almost infallible remedy, that it will be handed down to posterity as one of the greatest medical discoveries of the nineteenth century.

SITKA.—A correspondent of the Alta California who has evidently been at Sitka, furnished the following bit of information about our newly acquired northern country:

Taking the mouth of the Stickeen as the initial point, we find, first, on the mainland (spare the orthography until these new companies publish their grammars), the Tongass tribe, a little civilized, and the Stickeen, Kingomen, Cholkchenas, Henegas, and Kahles tribes, all less civilized than the Tongass. The last tribe lately killed Captain Kiby, Collector of Customs. Beyond these are the Sumdums, Tarkos and Hawk tribes, all very murderous and savage. On Linn's Canal are the Chilcats, the very worst. On Cape Cross are the Hoonines and the Hudsonbeat, both very savage. Then you have the Pearl Stone Sitkas, an ugly set. If you trade you must take blankets and compete with the Hudson Bay Company, once the proprietors of the country, who obtain their goods twenty-five per cent. cheaper than you can under the United States revenue laws. The smuggling fraternity may take whisky. (Just here my friend, the Captain, says: "Why, Bryan, you are sending up a lot of fellows to get them killed, sure?") To this I reply: "The very bane of the coast has been that, on account of laxity in preventing the trade, the Indians have been incited to deeds of crime; consequently I was correct in predicting a hard service for the navy. In return, you receive a very few sea otter, mink, martin, bear and beaver skins, dried salmon, hemp fish, poor oil, and dried berries. There are no sables. They come from Kamschatka. There have been, for several years past, parties prospecting the Stickeen and Chilcat rivers, meeting with but little success. The gold fields evidently lie in the interior. There are few fortifications, and not all calculated to resist modern artillery, at Sitka, and the guns are few in number and old-fashioned. You can grow a few potatoes, probably some barley, near the mouth of the Stickeen. I doubt the profit to be gained in attempting it further up the coast. The prominent articles or posts for trade, which pay a profit, are in the hands of the Russian American Fur Company, Half-breeds (as a general rule) are their factors, and old traders, they have risen to find "gentlemen thrust upon them." Did it ever enter the minds of the proposed "tourists" that now, as American citizens, they have the pre-emption plan in their own hands?

A prominent merchant of Boston, who spent three years in Russian America, thus writes to a local paper:

That portion of the above-named territory comprising the strip of territory from Mount St. Elias, south, to latitude 54 degrees 40 minutes north, enjoys a mild and equable climate, the thermometer ranging from 25 degrees above zero, as the extreme of winter and 75 degrees as the extreme of summer. But little snow falls, rains are almost constant throughout the year. The climate, though humid, is a very healthy one. The tribes of Indians inhabiting the country are numerous—they are intelligent and warlike. The country is mountainous and cut up with extensive woods and straits, and possesses many fine harbors, deer lock, cypress, birch and beech. In mineral riches it is no doubt very valuable. The writer has seen specimens of the natives, near Cape Addington, great quantities of virgin copper—handles of daggers, cooking utensils, and personal ornaments were made of it. In relation to inquiries, the natives reported extensive deposits of pure copper a short distance in the interior. Iron ore and bituminous and anthracite coal are also to be found in abundance. The waters swarm with fish—particularly salmon—and a small fish resembling in appearance the smelt—but is of a far richer oily quality. In the spring of the year the natives resort to the rivers to catch these fish for winter supply of food. Packed in convenient birch or red cedar boxes, they are transported all over, and form also an article of barter for furs, etc. Game is abundant—geese, ducks, deer, bear, etc. In the days of the Boston fur trade of the "North West Coast," the region in question produced the largest portion of the fure collected; as many as 10,000 sea otter skins have been purchased in a month's time. One Boston vessel in particular, with no more cargo than what lived in the trade room, (a double-sized stateroom,) was so successful in collecting furs in this part of the coast, taking them to China and investing proceeds of sale in silks, teas and nankeens, and again disposing of them in Boston, that the net profits of the voyage were over $200,000.

A Brave Loser.—We would be very much obliged if some of our agricultural friends will inform us why it is we need to market nothing but articles of the best quality; yet nowhere in the United States do farmers receive so low prices for their produce as in Oregon. There is a screw loose somewhere, and if the land owners and produce raisers will join with us in the investigation we will try to hunt it up, and if possible to tighten it.—Daily Herald.

That screw has been loose for the last twenty years, has been pointed out 5,000 times by newspapers and their correspondents, and 5,000 times have the people been advised to tighten it. Some of them, thanks to hard and costly experience, have begun to learn how to tighten it and are engaged in giving it a turn. The "screw loose" consists simply of the fact that Oregon producers always put up their produce in a nasty, slouchy style which went far to condemn it without examination. What reasonable person would expect to get the first price for a roll of tobacco, even though it might be a No. 1 article—done up in a dirty, greasy, ragged old stocking-leg? We don't mean to say that our people ever put up butter, literally, in stocking legs: but everybody knows that the general way of doing it, in the old times, was a not much more artistic one—done up in shapeless masses, wrapped with all sorts of rags, printed with dirty thumbs and fingers and thrust into kegs, tubs, buckets, boxes, etc. The best butter from the best dairy in the best butter district in the world would not sell, if put up in this style. First rate wheat, with lots of oats and cockles in it, bagged in little bags and big bags, bags patched, bags ragged and stuffed with rags, straw or wool—that's the way wheat went to market. This is sufficient to illustrate how the screw got loose. It continued loose, notwithstanding a few tried to do the right thing, because the many would not try. Whenever our farmers and traders learn to send nothing to market but good articles, put up in neat, clean, inviting and uniform packages, they will find no trouble in selling them for as much as other people get. Now, friend Unionist, will you please give that screw a turn?

SAN FRANCISCO ARRIVAL COMING.—The San Francisco Bulletin, of the 24th ult., says:

A company of young artists took the Petaluma boat yesterday morning, on their way for a tour through the most rugge country to Yreka, and thence to Portland.

The route indicated affords a great variety of scenery—wild mountain views, calm sunny slopes, fine vistas and romantic valleys; enough to arouse artistic fire and inspire the truest pencils. The young party comprising the party are H. O. Young, Jr., Mr. E. Holdridge and Mr. Briggs, a photographer. They will be joined by Mr. Keating Petaluma they will be joined by Mr. [illegible], an experienced traveler and hunter. The party is well supplied with materials for making sketches, and their object is to make numerous sketches from nature—the artists' best guide and teacher. The summer's open air studies will give them employment in the studio next fall and winter, when they will make elaborate sketches. The young painters intend to be residents of San Francisco, and pupils of Hill and Virgil Williams. They have devoted themselves to art and have adopted the right course to improve in its principles. Taking their color boxes and blankets, with a good stock of art, and boldly penetrating the wilds of our mountain ranges, they will acquire freshness and vigor of style, and be enabled to break from the trammels of [illegible] style.

CITY ITEMS.—We clip the subjoined items from the Enterprise of the 1st: The annual meeting of the Agricultural Association of Oregon, will be held in this city on the 20th.....We regret that Rev. I. D. Driver has finally upon leaving Oregon City. He will remove, with his family and household effects, to Salem, leaving this city on Tuesday next.....Mr. Wallace last week sheared on the farm of Mr. Thomas Rowley in this county, two full blooded Merono bucks, one of which a year old, sheared fifteen pounds of good clean fine wool, the other, two years old, sheared 11½ lbs. The former was 35 lbs., and the latter 25 lbs. after shearing. Let those who can beat this. Clackamas county now boasts of fine flocks as any county in the State, among the best of whom we may mention Messrs. Rowley, Porter, and Kilbert, who have sheep that cannot be beat.

MISSING MAN.—Mr. Frank Fitzgerald of the Dalles, who has been missing from that place since last Monday, has been heard from. A dispatch to this city yesterday from Bell, says that he passed through that place on Saturday, bound south. It seems he hired a horse on Monday, pretending to look for his own, started off south and went as far as Tygh valley, where he procured an Indian to guide him across the mountains. Since leaving Tygh valley he had not been heard of till the telegram was received yesterday from Salem. Telegrams have been sent to stop him, as there are some reasons for fearing that there is something wrong in his mysterious flight.

THE STATE FAIR.—The Board of Managers of the State Agricultural Society had a meeting at Salem last week and resolved upon changing the time of holding the fair to the 7th day of October, and to continue it six days. The claim of Clackamas county, for $150, was referred to a committee of three, from whom a majority and a minority were received; but the Board laid the whole matter over to a future meeting, without decisive action.

YEAST POWDER.—Half the yeast powders put in the market are humbugs invented and advertised for the purpose merely of making a raise without regard to the real qualities of the bread, but Donnelly's California Yeast Powders are the genuine, pure article, warranted to make light, sweet and nutritious bread. Those who have used them once, will never use any other brand, if Donnelly's can be obtained.

THE "MONTANA" FOR SITKA.—The Bulletin of the 27th says: The California, Oregon and Mexico Steamship Company will despatch the propeller Montana for Sitka on Monday, June 10th, calling at Victoria. It is quite likely that a Government officer will accompany this vessel, and upon arrival at her destination, formally take possession of our newly acquired territory in the name of the United States of America.

SAILING HOME.—A letter from Mr. Phillip Wasserman, a member of the house of Wasserman & Co., arrived at this port yesterday, that he would leave New York for Portland by the 21st of May 21st. He is, therefore, expected to make his return in about two weeks. Mr. Wasserman has been absent some a year, visiting the Eastern States and England. His many friends here will welcome his return home.

[illegible] Finley Sisters very generously gave a concert in Oregon City, Saturday evening to John Athey, the Tillamook young man who fell on Wednesday and broke his leg. Several influential persons were exerting themselves on Saturday afternoon, to secure a large attendance.

[illegible]—Mr. John Winberg, late of New York, has established himself permanently in this city and is making many fine pictures. Parties wishing photographs, should call at the New York gallery and examine his specimens. See advertisement in another column.

[illegible] a large lot of fresh Oranges has just been received per steamer Orizaba by Paul Speaite, 92 Front street. Try them.

FROM THE WARM SPRINGS.—Superintendent Huntington arrived here Saturday evening, having just come from the Warm Springs Agency. He reports the late Indian scare as having occurred during the temporary absence of Capt. Smith, and that upon investigating the matter there appears to have been no real cause for it. There are not, at present, any Snake sign in the neighborhood of the reserve.

THE LIVE YANKEE.—The bark Live Yankee, one of the six vessels composing the packet line between Portland and San Francisco, is now out eight days from the latter port, bound to this city. Thompson at San Francisco of the line, has been transferred to P. C Dart.

STOCK SENT UP THE COLUMBIA.—The Dalles Mountaineer states the numbers of stock arriving from Portland, during the week ending last Friday, as follows: Cattle, 607; horses, 99; hogs, 59; sheep, 1,887

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—The Senator, on Saturday, brought down from Oregon City, 3,027 qr sks flour, 5 bales woolen goods, 30 cases lard, 123 sks feed, 9 boxes eggs, 5 boxes butter, 100 sks oats.

TWO STEAMERS TO-DAY.—In consequence of an accumulation of freight in the warehouse at Oregon City, the Alert and Senator will both come down to-day with heavy loads.

RECORDER'S COURT.—On Saturday Reuben Simpson was held to answer in the Circuit Court, to a charge of permitting a gambling device to be set up in his saloon.

FREIGHT FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—We were not furnished a list of the consignees per steamer Orizhamna, but we learn that she brought about 550 tons freight.

COUNTY CHARGE.—John Whalen, a demented sort of man, was before Judge Marquam on Saturday and by the latter, ordered placed in the county hospital.

SPECIAL MEETING.—A special meeting of the Pioneer Base Ball Club, will be held this evening at Buchtel's Gallery. A full attendance is requested.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER, after a thorough trial, by innumerable living witnesses, has proved itself THE MEDICINE OF THE AGE. Although there have been many medicinal preparations brought before the public since the first introduction of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and large amounts expended in their introduction, the Pain Killer has continued to steadily advance in the estimation of the world as the best Family Medicine ever introduced. It is an internal and external remedy. One positive proof of its efficacy is, that the sales have constantly increased, and wholly upon its own merits. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cold, Cough, Bowel Complaints, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores, Sprains, Cuts, Bites of Insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it such a host of testimony, as an almost infallible remedy, that it will be handed down to posterity as one of the greatest medical discoveries of the nineteenth century.

The inquirers into the origin and history of this almost ubiquitous "noble craft and mystery," would seem to have arrived at this conclusion—that it is difficult to say at what period of time the art of printing did not exist. The simplest and most natural mode of conveying an idea is by the reproduction of similar appearances from an impression of the same surface; and whether this by a hand or a foot upon the snow, or by the pressure of wood or metal upon paper or vellum, it is alike "printing."

Accordingly, we find evidence that nearly four thousand years since a rude, imperfect method of printing was certainly practiced. First, seals were impressed upon a plastic material; next, symbols or characters were stamped upon clay in forming bricks, (as practiced in Babylon), and cylinders, and the walls of edifices.

Of this art, Wilkinson and others have brought examples from Egypt; and Rawlinson and Layard from the ruins of the buried cities of Asia. Not only have she inscribed bricks been found, but the wooden stamps with which they were impressed, of these, numerous specimens are in the British Museum.

Here also may be seen several instruments presenting a singular instance of how very near we may approach to an important discovery, and yet miss it. These are brass or bronze stamps, having on their faces inscriptions in raised characters reversed. To the back has been fastened a handle, a loop, a boss, or a ring. One use of these stamps has evidently been to "print" the inscription on surfaces, by aid of color, upon papyrus, linen or parchment; and, as the inscriptions show these stamps to have been of the period when literature had become one of the pursuits of the great, and the copying of books was a slow and expensive process, it is strange that the Romans, by whom these signets were used, should not have improved them by engraving whole sentences and compositions upon blocks, and thence transferring them to paper.

The Chinese printing from blocks at this day closely resembles the old Roman; and they assert that it was used by them several centuries before it was known in Europe—in fact, fifty years before the Christian era.

A vast interval elapses between the above attempts and the next advance—engraving pictures upon wooden blocks, invented toward the end of the thirteenth century by a twin-brother and sister of the illustrious family of Cuino, lords of Italy; these consisted of nine engravings of the "Heroic Actions" of Alexander the Great, and, as stated in the title-page, "reduced, imagined and attempted to be executed in relief, with a small knife, on blocks of wood;" all this was done and finished by us when only sixteen years of age."

This title, if genuine, presents us at once with the origin, execution, and design of the first attempts at block printing.

The next earliest evidence is a decree found among the archives of the Company of Printers at Venice, dated 1441, relating to playing-cards, printed from wood blocks, the impressions being taken by means of a burnisher. Then, instead of a single block, a series of blocks were employed in engravings of the "Biblia Pauperum," the text being printed from moveable types.

We have now reached the practice of "printing" in the present sense of the term. The invention of the "moveable types" is disputed by many cities, but only three have the slightest claim—Harlem, Strasburg, Mentz. Harlem for Lawrence Koster, who, "when walking in a wood, being first to fasten beech-bark into letters which being impressed upon paper, revived in the manner of a seal, produced one impression another, as his fancy pleased, to be for [illegible] the children of his son-in-law."

[illegible] with his son-in-law, devised "a more [illegible] and tenacious species of writing-ink, which he commonly used to draw letters; then he impressed entire figured pictures, with the letters only on opposite pages, not printed on both sides. Afterwards he changed from wood to lead, and then for tin.

The tradition adds that an unfaithful servant, having stolen the secret, set up for himself at Strasburg or Mentz; but the whole story, which includes the substitution of movable cast-lead letters as early as 1430, cannot be traced beyond the middle of the sixteenth century, and is generally discredited as a romantic fiction. Nevertheless, a [illegible] proved that a book called "Speculum Humanæ Salvationis," of very rude wooden characters, proceeded from the Harlem press before any other that is generally recognized.

Whether wooden moveable characters were ever employed even in any entire work is very questionable; they appear, however, in the capital letters of some early printed books.

"After" says Hallam, "no expedient of this kind was [illegible] until it was perfected by founding [illegible] in a matrix or mould; the essential character [illegible] of printing, as distinguished from [illegible] that some analogy to it.

The [illegible] now unhesitatingly ascribed to Guttenberg, a native of Mentz, the evidence of which is no less unquestionable than a legal document, dated 1439, by which it is proved that Guttenberg, being engaged in a wonderful unknown art," admitted several to partnership, one of whom, dying, his brother claimed to be admitted as his successor, [illegible] Guttenberg's refusal, they brought an action against him as principal partner.

From the evidence produced on the trial, it appeared that one of the witnesses had been [illegible] by Guttenberg to "take the stuke pages from the presses, and, by removing two screws, thoroughly separate them from one another, so that no man may know what it is." From this curious document (says the latest investigator of the subject), may be learnt that separate types were used for if they were block, arranged so as to print from pages (as stated in the settlement), how could they be pulled to pieces that no one should know what they were, or how could the abstraction of two screws cause them to fall to pieces. We are here reminded that within comparatively few years screws have been substituted for quoins, or wedges, in locking up the type in the chases, or iron frames, which may be a revival of Guttenberg's screw method of four hundred years since.

It seems that some sort of pressure were now used, and the transfers no longer taken by a burnisher or roller; and, lastly, that the art was still a great secret at the time when Koster was at the point of death. Hence it is manifest that the ingenuity of Guttenberg had made a vast advance from the rude methods of the time, and in fact, invented a new and hitherto unknown art.

All this took place at Strasburg, where Guttenberg resided many years, but it did not lead to any practical result, and the first book was printed at Mentz, near which the inventor was born. Thither Guttenberg returned about the year 1450, with all his materials. His former partnership had expired, and at Mentz he associated himself with John Faust, a wealthy goldsmith and citizen [illegible] agreement of being taught the secrets [illegible] admitted into the participation of [illegible] advanced the necessary funds, 220 [illegible].

The new partnership then hired a house called Zum Jungen [illegible] into their employ Peter Schoffer and there. A law-suit arose between the partners in 1455, and from a document in explanation [illegible] appears that, having expended the whole of his considerable private fortune in his experiment, Guttenberg had mortgaged his printing materials to Faust, which is proved by the initial letters used by Guttenberg and his partners in printing works between 1450 and 1455, being likewise used by Faust and Schoeffer in the "Psalter" of 1457 and 1459.

THE HISTORY OF THE POTATO.—In a paper recently read by a Mr. Crawford in London, on "The Relation of Plants to Ethnology," a very short but complete account was given of the introduction of the potato into Europe. The potato is still found on the western slopes of the Andes, the tubers, however, being no larger than the common Albert. Even the Indians, said Mr. Crawford, cultivated the potato before the arrival of the Europeans. It was first brought from America to Ireland, where it was cultivated in 1565; but it is said to have been introduced in Spain and Portugal even before that date. It is a well authenticated fact that Col. Mure of Caldwell, in the west of Scotland, within the present century, had some indurated clay soil taken from a coal pit being sunk on his estate, forty feet beneath the surface, which he carefully treated so as to prevent its being impregnated by any floating germs of seed; and that from this piece of clay several exotic plants unknown to the local botany came, and also one which turned out to be a species of the Solanum tuberosum, or potato. The produce of that plant (which in four years after the discovery bore large white potatoes) is now cultivated extensively in the west of Scotland. The story is a strange one, but if it is true, and has been solemnly attested by Col. Mure, who was lately a member of the English Parliament from Renfrewshire, Scotland.

DOGS.—The March report of the Commissioner of Agriculture dwells upon the ravages committed by dogs among the sheep in the United States. In 1865, 500,000 sheep were killed by dogs, and their value was $2,000,000. The number injured was 300,000, and their loss estimated at $600,000. The number of dogs in the country is estimated at 5,000,000, their annual expense ten dollars per head, and the sum total of their subsistance $50,000,000—an immense sum to bestow upon a class of animals, most of which are worthless, and many of them causing great mischief to farmers.

The Oneida Communists—Curious Particulars of their Doctrine and Practices.

[From the New York World.]

Two members of the Oneida Community came to the World on Monday for the purpose of presenting a copy of the Circular, the organ of the Communists, containing Father Noyes' response to Hepworth Dixon's personal card relating to him in the late edition of his New American. As the statement in Dixon's book have awakened a lively interest in Oneida Community, perhaps a resume of the conversation between the delegate and one of the staff of the World may be of general interest, as it throws considerable light on the doctrines and practices of this curious sect. Without being verbally accurate the conversation was substantially as follows:

Question. Doubtless Dixon's book has created considerable curiosity with regard to the Oneida Community.

Answer. We have been victims of a great deal of curiosity for the last six or eight years. We often give dinners to 100 persons at our house in Oneida, and to accommodate the large numbers who visit us out of curiosity, we contemplate building a summer hotel. We can't take boarders now; we do not wish to do so for obvious reasons, and the object of the hotel will be to give people an opportunity of seeing the result of our labors without knowing specifically, anything concerning our family affairs.

Q. Do you increase in numbers?

A. No, we care nothing about numbers but rather aim at perfecting individuals. We have formed one new family at Wallingford, Conn., where there are now some 50 persons in all. There is a fine printing office there, whence the Circular is issued.

Q. As you are disposed to be perfectly frank, perhaps you will not object to a rather delicate question. Do you have as many children in your family as in the families surrounding you?

A. No, we do not; as we have said, we are more for quality than quantity, and we aim at the best possible product in the way of progeny.

Q. Another delicate question. A noted spiritualist recently stated that the children of the Oneida Community, born of "complex marriages," are scrofulous, sore-eyed, and apparently unhealthy. Is this true? A. We do not so regard them. We believe our children to be as healthy as those born in ordinary families.

Q. Not regarding the usual distinctions of husband and wife in your community, are paternal relations at all recognized? A. Not in the same degree as in ordinary families. We try to take away both from the paternal and conjugal relations their selfishness and desire for exclusive appropriation. While there is probably a somewhat greater tie between parents and children elsewhere we still try to make our community father and mother, and our practice does not permit of exclusive control of children by their parents.

Q. Are there many applicants for admission into your community? A. Yes, very large numbers, but we admit very few. No person is admitted unless we are satisfied that he or she is spiritually "at one" with us. The adoption of our communistic and martial tenets is not sufficient without an acknowledgment of the religious tenets we believe to be essential.

Q. What school of medicine do you believe in? A. We do not practice in any particular school, but believe in the power of religious criticism to cure disease.

Q. Religious criticism! why what effect can that have upon physical distempers? A. Oh! we believe, in fact we know, that physical ailments are mere indications of spiritual disorder; hence, when a brother or sister is unwell we take him or her to task at a meeting of the Community, and catechize them so severely that they get into a sweat, which always has the effect of curing them. An instance of this occurred some few years since. Diptheria was prevalent to some extent in Oneida county and finally reached the Community. The first five or six persons taken ill were treated with the ordinary medical remedies, and all of them died. This aroused the Community, and the next persons attacked were subjected by the brothers and sisters to a severe catechising and criticism of their conduct. This invariably threw them into a sweat, and of the sixty cases which subsequently occurred, every one of them recovered.

Q. Your religious criticism, then, acts like a Turkish bath, or a dose of composition tea? A. (Laughing.) Well, yes; however, in addition to the criticism we usually apply use in cases of diptheria. We are not fanatics, while believing in spiritual agencies we also use such physical remedies as lie within the scope of our knowledge.

Q. Do you undertake to proselyte to the community?

A. Yes, after a measure. We publish the Circular gratuitously which can't cost less than $5,000 a year. We have opened an office in 825 Broadway, New York, for the sale of our doctrinal works, and the farm products and results of our manufactures at Oneida and Wallingford. Two of our brightest young men have just completed their medical studies in the schools of New York. We have opened a boarding house at New Haven, in order to give our young men the advantage of a thorough education at Yale College. Two of our members are graduates of Columbus College Law School, and it is our ultimate intention to establish a university at Wallingford, all the professors of which shall be members of our Community, who will be able not only to teach the various studies in vogue at other Universities, but also the mysteries of complex marriage, male continence, and the doctrines of Christian Communism.

There was much more conversation to the same effect. The above, however, embraces the leading points of the interview.

ANOTHER BIG GUN.—The New York Times of April 24th says:

A twenty-inch gun was cast at the Fort Pitt Foundry, Pitsburg, on Monday last, which makes the ninth of this calibre cast at those works.

The mould for this new monster was placed in the pit on Wednesday last, the 11th instant. Seventy tons or 140,000 pounds of iron was placed in three furnaces ready for operation. In furnace No. 4 was placed 68,000 pounds, in No. 5, 35,800, and in No. 6, 35,200 pounds. Yesterday morning, at four o'clock and thirty minutes, the fires were lighted in the respective furnaces.—Troughs were laid leading from the furnaces to the papi near the pit. The trough leading from No. 4 was sixty feet in length, that from No. 6 twenty-five feet.

At eleven o'clock the three furnaces were tapped, and the molten metal commenced running to the pool. (Two conduits led it from the pool to the pit, running it into opposite sides of the mould. The process of filling the moulds occupied twenty seven minutes, the flask being filled at seven minutes past eleven. While the metal was being run in, and subsequently, a stream of cold water was run in and out of the hollow core barrel of the mould at the rate of twenty gallons per minute. When the water commenced running it had a temperature of sixty degrees. In ten minutes its temperature had risen to one hundred and ten degrees, and in forty minutes to one hundred and forty degrees. The temperature of the water increased for about an hour.

The material of which the gun is cast is the best Juniata iron, made from Brown Hematite ore, at the Bloomfield furnace, about twelve miles from Hollidaysburg.

The rough weight of the gun when taken from the mould will be 140,000 pounds, and when finished it will weigh 95,000 pounds. Its greatest rough diameter will be sixty-six inches; its diameter at the muzzle, forty-eight inches. The greatest diameter when finished will be sixty-four inches, and the diameter at the muzzle 38x90 inches. The length of the finished gun will be 180 inches, and the length of the bore 157 inches. The depth of the pit in which it was cast was twenty-six feet and nine inches.

About two weeks will elapse before the great thing will be ready to take out. It will then be conveyed to the "proving ground" and tested, a ball ade thousand pounds in weight being used. Nine charges of Mammoth powder will then be employed, the first three charges being sixty pound each, the second three eighty pounds each, and the third three will be one hundred pounds each.

The casting was as perfect a success as was ever achieved. The final destination of the gun had not been decided by the Ordnance Bureau when they ordered it.

The change from slave to free labor at the South has suggested, and will measurably compel, an alteration in the crops of that section. Mr. J. B. Robertson, of Louisiana, in an able paper, advocates an entire change, which is to let cotton and sugar go, and devote the lands to cereals. He maintains that more money can be realized from grains than the other staples; that Southern wheat is of a superior quality to the Northern; that less capital will be required; and that the strain for labor will not be constant the year round. The idea is that the large plantations will be divided into small farms, and that immigration will ultimately, though not speedily, supply the place of negro labor. For the present the question is how to make the most and the best of the labor now on the ground; and this will be answered by devoting the best lands in Louisiana and other Southern States to crops that can be easily raised, which require little cultivation, which mature in the briefest time, and which, with less labor, will bring more profit than sugar or cotton.

Toilettes at a Washington Reception.

I write this letter as an act of justice to neglected men. The Washington correspondents, as a body, have given themselves over to the dominion of woman. Witness their one-sided accounts of the fashionable parties given by Senators and Secretaries. The women are all described as a lover might describe his beloved, while the men, though they may be husbands and fathers, Senators and Ministers, are not considered worthy to be mentioned at all. For the sake of vindicating the dignity of the sex—and for an example to the regular correspondents, I give you a proper account of the brilliant reception given at the house of the distinguished Secretary, R-n-l-d.

The host was dressed in a neat, close fitting coat, of a changeable hue, showing a delicate blue at night, but in open daylight a real substantial gray. Pants same material lined with gray muslin. White shirt, cut biassed with a beautiful frill all around the skirt. New patent steel collar, marked "A. J." It is here proper to remark that his tables groaned under luxurious piles of bread and butter furnished by the Treasury Department, and side tables staggered with the choicest wines, confiscated by the New York Custom House.

Senator D-l-tle was dressed in his best clothes, made loose, so as to be changed in a moment and worn either side out. They were of a light changeable blue on one side, and a roluble gray on the other. His shirt was cut goring, and was made of material confiscated at the New York Custom House. The bosom was immaculately white, typical of the breast within. He wore a steel collar, which was also typical of the character of the man. He seemed hungry, and spent most of the evening in the refreshment room, eating bread and butter, and slipping the odds and ends into his pockets.

Chief Justice C-h-s-e was dressed in a full suit of blue, with the exception of his vest, which had a green back. The top of his boots were also green, and he had in his pocket several little pictures of, Christopher Columbus and others set in green. He seemed to be rather choice of these, keeping his hands in his pockets all the time, especially when the host or Senator D-l-tle were about. He were suspenders.

General G-r-n-t was dressed in blue and a cigar case. He had on suspenders and blue-ribbed socks with white tops. He was heard to inquire of the Chief Justice why he was like one of Shakspeare's characters? When the Chief Justice gave it up, he said it was because his offence was rank. The Secretary of War brevetted him on the spot.

President J-h-n-n came in leaning heavily on the arm of Vice President St-v-n-s for support. On first entering he seemed to be insensibly affected by something, but soon dried his eyes with his new pocket handkerchief—a splendid pattern of bunting, representing the United States flag on one side and the Confederate flag on the other. His outer garments are a curious mixture of blue, gray and butternut, but all his underwear were of a sturdy gray, dyed in the wool. He wore no suspenders, claiming, it is understood, that such fixtures are closely in violation of the Constitution and an insult to the South. It is unconstitutional to suspend anything except women.

Senators S-l-n-r-y and McD-g-l jeame together and looked and acted like brothers. They were dressed alike, each having on a small colored butternut coat with two bottles of whisky in the coat tails. Bottles partially empty. These two chivalric gentlemen added much to the festivities of the occasion by acting an interesting tableau, representing the coat of arms of Kentucky—"I dare and no more do stand." They were kids.

Seated in the corner were Secretary W-l-s and Senator D-v-s of Kentucky engaged in warm discussion for several hours, the Secretary being asleep all the time. The gallant Senator's attention being called to the fact that his adversary was asleep and snoring, he replied that he was glad of it, he was used to such things; it gave him more time to establish his side of the question—and he went on "like an April shower."—Wash. Cor. Cincinnati Commercial.

THE NUMBER NINE.—There are some peculiar combinations of which the number 9 is susceptible that may not have occurred to a good many of our readers. For example the multiplication table, and running the eye down the 9 column note that the combination of the figures compose 9 according to a fixed rule; thus, 9 times 2 are 18, and 8 and 1 are 9; 9 times 3 are 27, and 7 and 2 are 9, etc. Suppose we go beyond the multiplication table, and say 9 times 17, for example, is 153; then you have 5 and 3 are 8 and 1 is 9, and so on. Multiply any 763 by 9 and the result is 5922; add these four figures, and the result is 18 which is twice nine.

The numerals composing the number of the year 1865 are susceptible of such combination. For example, 1, 8, 6 and 5, added together are 18, and 8 and 1 are 9. Add together the first two figures they make 9; so do the last two. Set the two first under the two last and add them, they make 81—9 times 9 and together they make 9; subtract the first two from the last two and we have 56, which is 5 times 9, and 4 and 5 make 9. Multiply all the four figures together—thus, 1x8x6x5—and your result will be 144; 4 and 4 are 8 and 1 is 9. Odd, isn't it.

Gentlemen best acquainted with the Sewing Machine business, compute that the whole number of sewing machines made in the United States up to the close of the year 1866 was about 750,000. During the quarter ending December 10, 1866, the number of machines made by licensed companies, as reported by them to Elias Howe, was 52,219! This is above the rate of 200,000 per annum.

Consumption like the Rattle Snake, always gives warning of its approach. A hacking cough, dull pain in the chest, difficulty of breathing, are the indications that there is more or less irritation of the lungs. If this is neglected, and go on until purulent ulcers are formed followed by tubercles, which soon throw out off the blood vessels, death will be the result. Allen's Lung Balsam will heal the irritable parts, allay the inflammation, removing the phlegm and matter thus stopping the cough, and preventing fatal consumption.
